REPORT.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE,
Trenton, N. J., Oct. 30th, 1875.

To His Excellency, Joseph D. Bedle, Governor and Commander-in-Chief:

SIR:—I have the honor to submit the following report of this department for the year 1875:

Office Business.—There has been a manifest increase in the routine business of the office. More searches of records have been asked for, more proofs of military service required, than ever before. It certainly appears that as the years elapse since the war the demand increases for evidence of enlistment, service and honorable discharge. This is due no doubt to the loss of discharge papers, and, as I am required by law to issue a certificate of record in lieu thereof, it may confidently be expected that these daily requests will continue to increase for years to come.

War Register.—The Register of the soldiers of the war is nearly ready for publication. The record of soldiers and sailors credited to this state, but not serving in New Jersey organizations, is all that remains to be revised and printed. The greatest care has been taken with this work, the proof-reading having been most carefully made, and I cannot but think it will be found the most complete record of the kind thus far issued by any state.

War Records.—Every year makes more perfect our office records, so far as relates to the several wars in which our state has taken an active part. It is with great satisfaction that I can at all times give an answer when applied to for the service of Jersey men prior to the foundation and through all the hundred years of the history of the Republic.

Pensions.—Under the provisions of “An act for the relief of soldiers and sailors of this State in the war of one thousand eight hundred and twelve,” approved March 12th, 1874, granting the sum of one hundred dollars per annum to all the soldiers and sailors of this State who served in the war of 1812, and the widows of any such soldiers and sailors, it was made my duty to receive the evidence of service furnished in each case, to file it in this office, to examine the same, to be satisfied that such service was really performed, and thereupon to certify the application for pension to the Comptroller of the Treasury. The sworn proof of service having been furnished in each case, it was then duly verified by the office records. The question of identity was then fully examined, and whether or not the applicant was entitled to or was receiving pension from the United States. These facts being determined, the application was certified over to the proper officer. The result shows—

Number certified last year, according to my report,	-	-	203
Increase since the date of last report,	-	-	111
Whole number of claims allowed under the law,	-	-	314
Pensioners who have died during the year,	-	-	32
Number of soldiers and sailors now receiving pension,	-	-	26
Number of widows of soldiers, &c., now receiving pension,			256
Total number receiving pension at this date,	-	-	282
Number of rejected applications,	-	-	83

Without comment on the character of this State pension law, and the large expenditure of funds which it necessitates, I respectfully call your attention to the statement herewith presented.

National Guard.—The National Guard of this State is now composed of sixty-five (65) companies of Infantry, two (2) companies of Cavalry, and two (2) companies of Artillery.

The parades and inspections of the military force have all been held as required by law. The annual parade and review of the First Brigade was held at Newark, July 21st; and of the Second Brigade, at Beverly, June 28th.

Consolidation.—During the past year a consolidation of the First and Second Regiments has been made by the Division commander, and the result is already apparent in a strong and efficient organization.

Rifle Practice.—Much attention has been given by the troops to acquiring proficiency in the use of the new breech-loading rifle, with which they are being supplied. It would be of great advantage to them if some plan could be devised whereby all the force could have some regular season and a suitable place to gain a more perfect use of the weapon.

Centennial.—It is apparent that much will be expected from the National Guard of the State during the Centennial season. Other States have already made arrangements to place large bodies of men in camp at Philadelphia during the summer of 1876. Our force is in such compact shape, so well officered, drilled, and equipped, that it can be called upon for any duty which may be required. It cannot fail to do itself justice, as well as reflect honor upon the State.

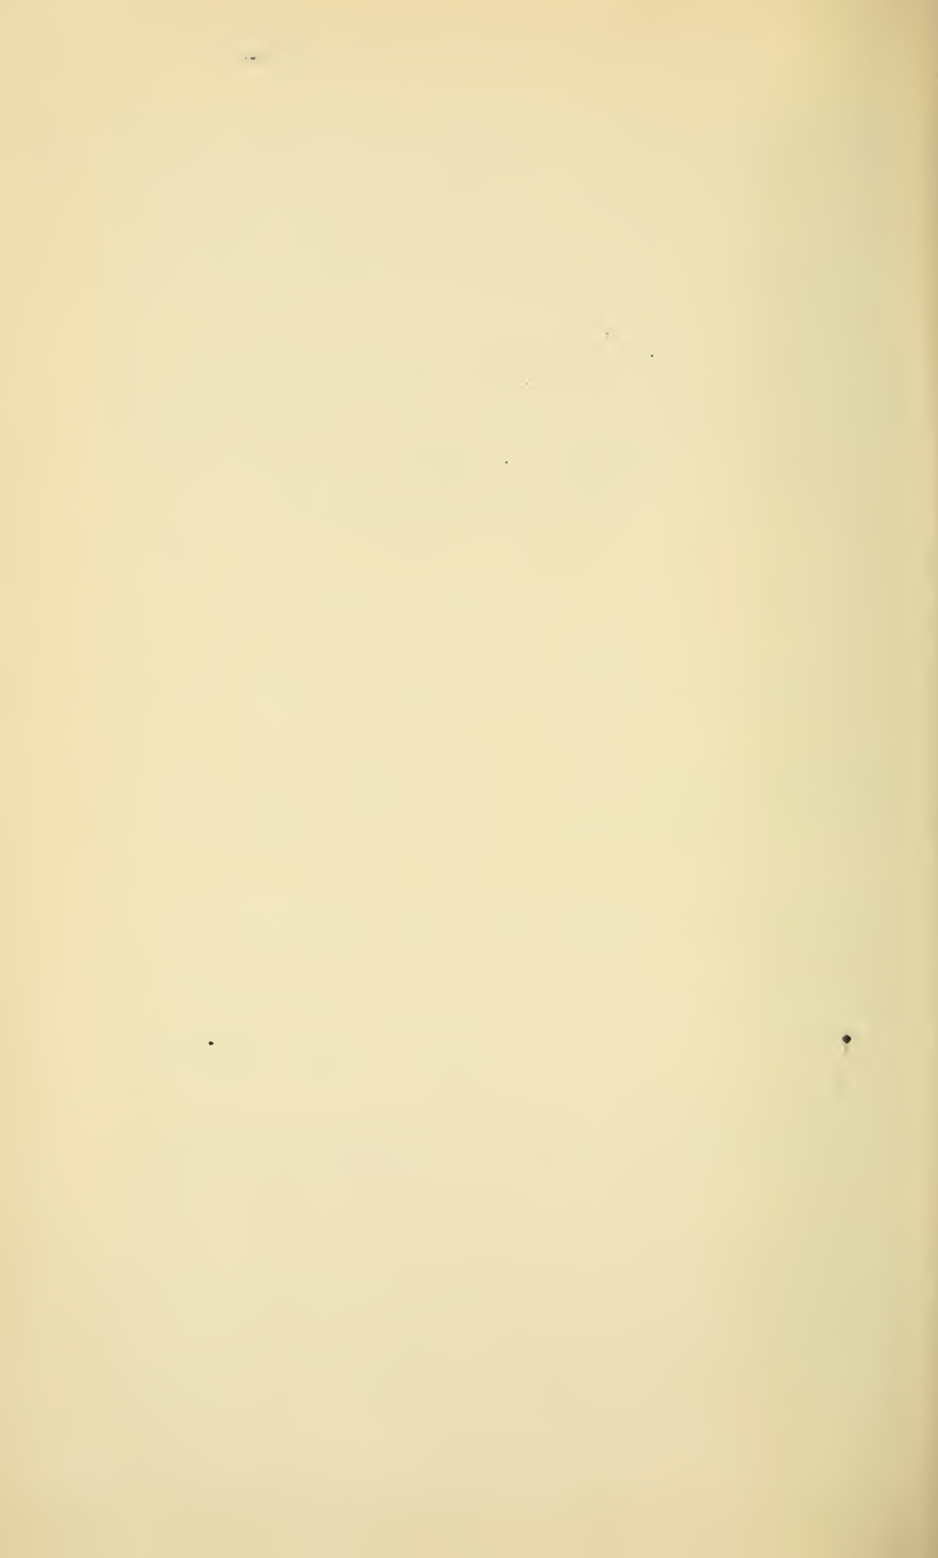

The report of the Assistant Adjutant General, Chief of Enrolling and Drafting, has been received, and is herewith presented.

The report of the Inspector General, with the returns of Brigade Inspectors of the National Guard, is annexed, to which you are referred for special information as to its numbers and general efficiency.

Respectfully submitted,

WILLIAM S. STRYKER,

Adjutant General of New Jersey.

REPORT OF THE INSPECTOR GENERAL.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY, }
INSPECTOR GENERAL'S OFFICE, }
ELIZABETH, Dec. 15th, 1875. }

GENERAL:—I have the honor herewith to submit my annual report of the condition of the National Guard, so far as I have been enabled to complete the same from the return of the Brigade Inspectors.

The returns from the First Brigade you will find complete, and they were all received by me prior to November 1st, as required by law, but the returns from the Second Brigade have only been received by installments of a few companies at a time, at various dates, extending from November 12th to December 15th, and from Company A, of the Third Regiment, and Companies A and H of the Sixth Regiment, no returns whatever have been received at this office.

The inspection of the Eight Regiment was made by Lieut. Col. Murphy of the Second Brigade, he having been detailed for that duty from this office. The Regiment is composed of seven companies, known as Companies "A," "B," "C," "D," "E," "H," and "I." It paraded for inspection ten officers and two hundred and twenty-six enlisted men, including musicians, which was a great falling off from last year. The inspection taking place at Camden it is a noticeable fact the Companies from Newark and Elizabeth, Companies H and A, showed the greatest strength, while Companies C, E and I, all of Camden, made a poor exhibit. I recommend that Company B, be disbanded as it falls below the minimum required by law, having present and absent but thirty-five enlisted men. And that the annual appropriation be withheld from Companies C, E, and I, because in order to make up their minimum in each case, they include so large a number of absentees as to clearly show them to be inefficient organizations.

The aggregate strength of the Regiment, present and absent, is reported as three hundred and forty-two officers and men, while the average of enlisted men per Company was but thirty-two present at inspection. The Regiment being thus reduced to but three Companies, I further recommend that no appropriation be made for regimental organization until these Companies are rendered efficient or the regiment recruited to at least six companies.

The First Brigade, commanded by Brigadier General Joseph W. Plume, is composed of thirty companies of Infantry and one Battery of Artillery, viz.: Battery "A," which battery is now, as it always has been, deserving of complimentary mention, its strength present at inspection having been 58. The thirty companies of Infantry are divided into four Regiments and one Battalion, and are designated as Companies A, B, C, D, E, F, G, and H, of the First Regiment.

Companies A, B, C, D, E, and F, of the Fourth Regiment.

Companies A, B, C, D, E, F, G, and H, of the Fifth Regiment.

Companies A, B, C, D, and E, of the Ninth Regiment.

And Companies A, B, and C, of the Second Battalion.

The aggregate strength of the Brigade is one thousand seven hundred and fifty-nine officers and men, of which number, one thousand four hundred and nineteen were present at inspection. The average present of enlisted men in the thirty companies of Infantry of this Brigade, which last year at inspection was but thirty-one, is this year forty-one, an exceedingly creditable increase, and which increase would have been still greater, had not the Fifth Regiment paraded eight companies, with an average present of but thirty-three men—the average of the other organizations of the Brigade having been as follows:

The Fourth Regiment, 47 enlisted men per Company.

The First Regiment, 46 " " " "

The Ninth Regiment, 40 " " " "

And the Second Battalion, 40 enlisted men per Company.

All of the companies of the four last above mentioned organizations are entitled to share the credit due the Brigade, except Company A of the Ninth Regiment, which, parading but thirty-four enlisted men, makes up in its returns the minimum required by law, by including in its quota four of the absent without leave.

In the Fifth Regiment, Company F, which paraded forty-three enlisted men, is the only company entitled to special credit; and Companies E, G, and H are merely passable, as they all include some absentees without leave, to make up their quota required by law.

Company A appears to be under the command of a Lieutenant detailed from E Company, and shows upon its rolls three officers in arrest, and twenty-five enlisted men absent without leave. It reports, at the inspection held on September 24th, 1875, but twenty-six enlisted men present, twenty-one of whom appear to have been enrolled, by the Lieutenant detailed in charge of the company, but one week prior thereto, viz.: September 17th, the Captain having been placed in arrest, September 15th; so that but five of the original members of the company were present at the inspection. I recommend that the company be disbanded, and the recruits consolidated with Companies B, C, and D, so that Companies A, B, C, and D will hereafter form but two companies, as Company B, having in all but thirty-eight enlisted men, has fallen below the minimum, and is entitled to no State appropriation, and Companies C and D are both weak companies, obliged to keep up their strength upon paper, by including a large number of absentees without leave. I further recommend that the appropriation be withheld from all those companies until such consolidation or entire disbandment is had.

The Second Brigade, commanded by Brigadier General Uriah DeHart, consists of Battery B, Troop A and B of Cavalry, and twenty-eight companies of Infantry, which are designated as Companies A, B, C, D, E, F, G, and H, of the Third Regiment.

Companies A, B, C, D, E, F, G, and H, of the Sixth Regiment.

Companies A, B, C, D, E, F, G, and H, of the Seventh Regiment.

And Companies A, B, C, and D, of the Fourth Battalion.

Upon the recommendation of the Brigade Inspector, as well as from knowledge derived from personal observations, I respectfully suggest that Companies A and B, of the Third Regiment, be immediately disbanded, for the good of the service.

Companies C, D, F, G, and H, are all up to the standard required, having paraded at inspection an average of forty enlisted men to each company. Companies D and F are entitled to special credit, and Companies C, G, and H, to favorable mention. Company E, while parading a less number, satisfactorily accounts for its minimum required.

I regret being compelled to make my report without returns from Companies A and H of the Sixth Regiment, as both Companies have the reputation of being efficient organizations and their returns ordinarily swell considerably the aggregate of the National Guard, but I can wait no longer, and therefore respectfully suggest that the appropriation for those two Companies be withheld until satisfactory returns are filed in your office.

Of the remaining Companies of that Regiment, Companies B, C, D, F and G are fully up to the standard, but Company E makes up its minimum quota by including two absent without leave and seven musicians; failing to find authority allowing such a number of musicians in a Company, I recommend that their annual appropriation be withheld until the discrepancy can be satisfactorily explained.

In the six companies of the Sixth Regiment, from which reports have been received, the average of enlisted men present at inspection in each Company (excluding the extra musicians) was $37\frac{1}{2}$.

The returns from the Seventh Regiment, with its eight Companies, which was inspected at Phillipsburg, show an average attendance at inspection of $43\frac{1}{2}$ enlisted men per Company. The only Company parading less than forty enlisted men was Co. D.

The returns from the two Companies of Cavalry and Battery B, show the strength required by law.

The returns from the Fourth Battalion show an average present of enlisted men or thirty-four per company. Companies A and D, however, by their strength make up for the deficiency in Companies B and C. Companies A and D are entitled to honorable mention, but Companies B and C falling both below the minimum, and being both stationed at Bridgeton, I suggest that they be consolidated, but in case this is not done they are neither of them entitled to their annual appropriation.

The entire strength of the Second Brigade, leaving out the Company in the Third Regiment, and the two Companies of the Sixth Regiment, who failed to make any returns to these Headquarters, is one thousand six hundred and five officers and men, of whom one thousand one hundred and fifty-two were present at inspection. The total strength of this Brigade, officers and men, is one thousand seven hundred and sixty-one. The average attendance at inspection, of enlisted men in the twenty-five Companies of Infantry, of the Second Brigade, included in this report, was thirty-seven and three-fourths per company.

The total strength of the National Guard, exclusive of State and General Staff, is three thousand eight hundred and sixty-two officers and men, of which number there were present at inspection two thousand eight hundred and seven, officers and men.

I have the honor also to forward herewith consolidated reports of each Regiment, Battalion, Cavalry Company and Battery in detail, and consolidated returns of each Brigade.

Respectfully submitted,

J. AUGUSTUS FAY, JR.,

Brigadier General and Inspector General.

To Brevet Major General WILLIAM S. STRYKER, Adj't Gen'l of N. J.
